After the Storm

To all who love New Orleans,

The heart and soul of the great city of New Orleans is her people. Just think of all of the good times, happiness and prosperity the city of New Orleans has given to us. In her present condition, our city needs us now more than ever. It's time for those of us who have the will, the strength and the means to do what we can to bring our beloved city back to its former greatness. Grab a broom, help a neighbor, hug a friend, and write your congressmen and senators (especially if you live outside of Louisiana). Let's show the world that the spirit and determination of the people of New Orleans are alive and well. Now is the time for action. If we wait for someone to do it for us, it may be too late. Our wounds are healing with every minute, hour and day that passes, especially as we reconnect with our neighbors, friends, and colleagues; our community is our family.

Destination New Orleans is committed to doing whatever it can to help in the rebuilding process. In order for DNO to continue its tradition of creating and producing quality events in New Orleans, we must first get people to return to our city. To that end, DNO will apply its award-winning marketing skills to broadcast to the world that New Orleans is coming back, better and stronger than ever. We believe in the city with its rich culture and character; qualities that hold special places deep in our hearts. True, there are many challenges ahead. But, to a city that has given us so much, we owe it to her to help and give back what we can to rebuild.

As we move forward, Destination New Orleans would like to share with you our first step in rebuilding New Orleans. Just click on the link below.
